Dear Colleagues:

On behalf of the organizing committee, we are delighted to welcome you to the First Tokyo Percutaneous Coronary Intervention Conference (TOPIC) being held from April 10 through 12, 2003 in Tokyo, Japan. This conference has been created by bringing together the Tokyo Coronary Conference (formerly known as the Keio Live Demonstration), the Kawasaki Live Demonstration, and the Showa Live Demonstration to form a large-scale meeting that will offer new merits and an opportunity for all participants to share their knowledge as well as their experiences in this area.

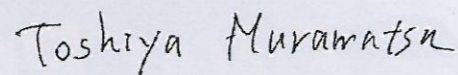

The field of coronary intervention has advanced dramatically in recent years, and many kinds of therapeutic devices as well as modalities of coronary imaging have been developed. These advances have played a prominent role in the improvement of coronary intervention. Many epoch-making trials have revealed the clinical efficacy of these therapeutic devices and strategies. However, the lesions used in these trials have been much simpler than real-world cases. A variety of strategies are generally applied to treat coronary lesions. Each device and technique has merits and demerits, and we recognize the value of each. Therapeutic strategies should be selected for each individual case based on, among other factors, long-term outcomes, cost, the degree of invasion, and applicability.

The Tokyo Percutaneous Coronary Intervention Conference offers an informative and educational live-demonstration program. We look forward to meeting you at the conference.

Sincerely yours,
